

8 A computer has system software and application software.

(a) Explain how system software is different to application software.

.....

.....

.....

..... [2]

(b) One type of system software is an operating system. One function of an operating system is to manage peripherals.

Describe the operating system function managing peripherals.

.....

.....

.....

..... [2]

