

Annotations guidance for centres

Examiners use a system of annotations as a shorthand for communicating their marking decisions to one another. Examiners are trained during the standardisation process on how and when to use annotations. The purpose of annotations is to inform the standardisation and monitoring processes and guide the supervising examiners when they are checking the work of examiners within their team. The meaning of annotations and how they are used is specific to each component and is understood by all examiners who mark the component.

We publish annotations in our mark schemes to help centres understand the annotations they may see on copies of scripts. Note that there may not be a direct correlation between the number of annotations on a script and the mark awarded. Similarly, the use of an annotation may not be an indication of the quality of the response.

The annotations listed below were available to examiners marking this component in this series.

Annotations

Annotation	Meaning correct point or mark awarded incorrect point or mark not awarded information missing or insufficient for credit allow or accept incorrect or insufficient point ignored while marking the rest of the response contradiction in response, mark not awarded benefit of the doubt given error carried forward applied benefit of doubt was considered, but the response was decided to not be sufficiently close for benefit of doubt to be applied .
	point has been noted, but no credit has been given or blank page seen
